

KING & SPALDING

Government Advocacy and Public Policy Practice

Helping Clients Advance Their Federal and State Government Agendas

King & Spalding's Government Advocacy and Public Policy (GAPP) team draws upon lifetimes of Washington experience and bipartisan relationships to provide our clients with effective legal and political problem solving in both Congress and the Executive Branch, and at the state level.

A FULL RANGE OF SERVICES TO ADDRESS CLIENTS' NEEDS

With government activity reaching into more areas of our clients' business than at any time in recent memory, our GAPP team works with clients to develop and implement strategies to maximize opportunities, minimize risks, and accomplish strategic goals. We:

- Help bridge the gap between government and industry, including industries of focus at King & Spalding, such as technology, energy, healthcare and life sciences, financial institutions, and automotive and transportation. We regularly assist clients with drafting comments, white papers, and other advocacy communications on proposed regulatory and legislative changes and in drafting and presenting testimony before Congress.
- Help clients develop legislative strategies, utilizing the arcane congressional budgeting and appropriations process as a backstop means of advancing legislative goals and agendas on Capitol Hill.
- Help clients navigate regulatory requirements related to cybersecurity, including assisting clients with data breach preparedness and response efforts, and related investigations and litigation.

Praised for bringing “value and a broad skill set, including strong advocacy abilities, to every engagement.”

- Protect the interests of our U.S. and international clients as they are affected by U.S. foreign policy and the laws of countries outside the United States. The former diplomats, government officials, and members of Congress on our team are able to help guide policy formation and legislative initiatives.
- Advocate on tax issues, including representing clients before the tax writing committees of Congress and the Trump Administration and in responding to continuing efforts to reform the tax code.
- Advance trade and investment objectives of major U.S. and non-U.S. manufacturers and service providers and of sovereign entities through a range of international trade regulatory, dispute settlement, litigation, policy, and enforcement mechanisms.
- Represent clients in connection with congressional inquiries, including providing strategic counsel and hands-on support for responding to congressional committee requests and subpoenas and preparing for high-profile hearings. We have extensive experience guiding clients through the unique challenges presented by congressional oversight investigations.
- Provide legal, government affairs, and advocacy services to our clients with business or government interests in the U.S. territories.
- Represent clients in their interactions with state attorneys general on issues relating to pharmaceuticals, financial services, technology, data security, and environmental litigation, among other matters, leveraging our strong working relationships with state attorneys general and their senior staff across the country.
- Counsel on all aspects of campaign finance, ethics, and lobbying activities, using our experience and contacts at all levels of government to comprehensively support and resolve issues.

OUR PEOPLE ARE THE DIFFERENCE

Members of our group have served in key positions on Capitol Hill and possess direct experience working with congressional rules and procedures, which can be an important component of our clients' legislative strategies. We bring concrete government relations know-how, experience, and relationships built over decades as one of Washington's most influential lobbying practices. As a result, our team offers practical political experience and provides strategic advice to ensure that our clients maximize their interactions with Congress and the Executive Branch.

EXPERIENCE ON BOTH SIDES OF THE AISLE

Our GAPP team leverages bipartisan relationships to advise and advocate on a broad range of policy matters. The team includes five former members of Congress, a former general counsel for the House of Representatives, a former chief of staff for the House Democratic leader, a former assistant to the Senate Democratic leader, a former President Pro-Tem and Majority Leader of the Georgia Senate, and a former mayor of Washington, D.C., along with many additional counsel and staff who have served in senior congressional and Executive Branch positions.

Our former members of Congress served on some of the most critical committees on Capitol Hill and have firsthand experience as decision-makers in the legislative process. They maintain and leverage close relationships with numerous current lawmakers and various caucuses, such as the Congressional Black Caucus and the Congressional Hispanic Caucus, in order to advance the agendas of our clients.

Our team has worked for key lawmakers and committees, including the House Appropriations, Armed Services, Budget, Energy & Commerce, Homeland Security, Judiciary, Rules, Veterans' Affairs, Ways & Means, and the Permanent Select Intelligence committees; and, in the Senate, the Banking, Housing & Urban Affairs, Finance, Homeland Security & Governmental Affairs, Small Business & Entrepreneurship, and Select Intelligence committees, as well as the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations.

Our former members of the Executive Branch have served in leadership roles in the White House, the Office of Management and Budget, the Department of Justice, the Department of Defense, the Department of State, the Central Intelligence Agency, the Federal Trade Commission, the U.S. Postal Service, as well as with the United Nations.
