

Brussels

Our Brussels office opened in 2019 and is the firm's 21st location globally. The lawyers in the office advise companies in the EU and around the world across a broad range of international trade and life sciences regulatory matters.

Brussels serves as an EU hub for our international trade team, which includes former WTO and EU officials and other leading global practitioners in Washington, DC, Geneva, Frankfurt and Paris. Our Brussels-based trade team is led by Marie-Sophie Dibling and former European Commission official Hervé Jouanjean, who counsel clients on trade remedy investigations and help them navigate the full spectrum of trade policy and market access issues.

Our Brussels-based Life Sciences team, part of the firm's 300+ lawyer global practice, is led by Geneviève Michaux and focuses on EU, French and Belgian food and drug law with an emphasis on regulatory issues associated with pharmaceuticals, biologics, medical devices, cosmetics and food.
