

Moscow

Situated at the junction of East and West, developed and emerging markets, the Moscow team helps investors to grow and diversify their investments in Russia and the CIS region, with a keen eye to the realities of politics and corporate deal-making.

The group has a solid record of representation in Russia's growth engines: energy, mining and metals, infrastructure and real estate, finance, and technology, media and telecommunications (TMT) law. King & Spalding has been ranked by Chambers and Legal 500 as a leading Russian firm in these areas.

While transactions and disputes practices are the office backbone, clients will find enhanced cross-industry competencies in intellectual property, anti-corruption, anti-monopoly and government investigations.

The team has advised corporations including Rosneft Oil Company, Norilsk Nickel, GV Gold, Sberbank and Alfa Bank on key acquisitions and joint ventures, secured financings, sanctions-related issues and high-risk investments.
