New York

Operating in the nexus of the global financial and business ecosystems, our New York office regularly represents the largest banks, auditors, funds and corporations on their most sensitive domestic and international disputes and government investigations, and across a range of sophisticated corporate and financial transactions.

Our New York-based litigators are known globally for bet-the-company defense in complex commercial disputes, government investigations, SEC enforcement and professional liability cases, with a particular focus on the financial services and accounting sectors. In addition, King & Spalding is one of a few New York firms with a top-tier international arbitration practice.

Our New York transactional team has established a strong reputation for providing commercially-minded and market-savvy advice in corporate finance, M&A and insolvency matters across various industries, with a concentration in real estate and private equity. The office is also home to a full-service IP practice that combines proven first-chair trial and business lawyers with true scientific specialists.

Clients include financial services giants, notably Citigroup, Credit Suisse, Deutsche Bank and JPMorgan Chase & Co., along with accounting firms, investment funds, diversified multinationals, and emerging- and middle-market companies.
