Alexander Davey defends clients subject to government investigations. Alexander has represented corporations and individuals in large global white-collar investigations and related litigation. Alexander is an Associate in our Special Matters and Investigations practice and is licensed to practice in Texas and England and Wales. Alexander began practicing in London, UK where he spent 5 years defending corporations and individuals facing global white-collar investigations.

Alexander is experienced in defending clients in all white-collar matters. He has represented clients in investigations and prosecutions alleging corruption, anti-trust offences, fraud, money laundering, false accounting and other allegations of criminal and regulatory misconduct. Alexander has experience of matters involving extradition and mutual legal assistance, proceeds of crime and international sanctions.

Alexander has practiced in the two most active enforcement jurisdictions - the United States and the United Kingdom - and can offer guidance to clients facing investigations in multiple jurisdictions.

In his non-contentious practice, Alexander has designed, implemented and tested compliance processes and advised on pre/post-acquisition due diligence.

Alexander has represented clients in interviews with government authorities (both as suspects and as witnesses) and has conducted interviews on behalf of corporations when conducting internal investigations.

Internal investigations are a large part of Alexander's practice. He is experienced in all aspects of the investigation process, from initial report through to the issuance of a report. Alexander's was conducted investigations on a wide range of matters, including those related to bribery and corruption, cyber-crimes and fraud allegations related to healthcare, accounting, emissions, bankruptcy, tax, and real estate, among other areas.

Alexander's work has involved various industries including energy, automotive, financial services, healthcare, construction, retail and food and beverage industries.
