akassir@kslaw.com

Allison Kassir works with clients to develop and implement legislative and regulatory strategies related to health care, energy, climate change, homeland security, education, and trade. Allison also works as part of the firm's congressional investigations practice to represent clients before House and Senate Committees, as well as the Government Accountability Office.

Allison served in a variety of positions on Capitol Hill, including as senior legislative advisor to Congressman Paul McHale (D-PA), handling domestic issues. Prior to working for Congressman McHale, Allison served as a special assistant to the Secretary of Defense, Les Aspin. She had worked for then-Chairman Aspin for several years as a part of the House Armed Services Committee Member Services Team, formed to serve as a liaison between Chairman Aspin and other House Members, as well as to advance Chairman Aspin's policy goals.
