Amy Bentsen Boring is a Senior Associate in King & Spalding’s Atlanta office, a member of the firm’s Special Matters and Investigations practice, and a Certified Compliance & Ethics Professional (CCEP). Amy focuses her practice on white-collar criminal defense, internal corporate investigations, complex civil litigation, crisis management, and compliance counseling.

Amy represents companies and individuals in investigations conducted by federal and state authorities, including the Department of Justice, multiple United States Attorney’s offices, the Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and the Drug Enforcement Agency. As a CCEP, she conducts compliance program assessments, advises clients on designing and operationalizing their compliance programs, and assists clients with the development of their policies, procedures, and training materials.

Amy graduated, magna cum laude, from Georgia State University College of Law. During law school, she interned with the Federal Reserve Bank and served as a student attorney in the Georgia State College of Law Low-Income Taxpayer Clinic.
