

Chad A. Williams

Attorney

Trial and Global Disputes

Washington, D.C.: +1 202 626 8992

cawilliams@kslaw.com

Chad A. Williams is an attorney in King & Spalding's E-Discovery practice. His practice focuses on electronic discovery issues, particularly with respect to the representation of clients in matters of product liability and governmental investigations. Chad has been involved in both individual cases and class actions pending in state and federal courts around the country.

Chad has assisted Atlanta Volunteer Lawyers Foundation (AVLF) with intake interviews for individuals with landlord/tenant claims. He also has volunteered on the weekends with the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program to assist qualified individuals in filing their tax return documents with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

Matters

Supervised and managed a review requiring rolling productions for a Fortune 500 company in a civil litigation matter.

Supervised and managed a review of more than 200,000 documents for a Fortune 50 company in connection with a governmental investigation.

Trained and supervised a review team conducting a hard copy paper review for an international pharmaceutical manufacturer in connection with deposition preparation and production.

Prepared privilege logs in a number of cases on behalf of a major pharmaceutical manufacturer.

Litigation Technology Experience

Chad has extensive knowledge and experience of document review and litigation support systems including FTI's Ringtail and Mapper, Relativity, DoeLegal's Summation, Concordance, Ipro, and Microsoft Access.

Credentials

EDUCATION

J.D., Florida Coastal School of Law

B.A. History, Pennsylvania State University

ADMISSIONS

District of Columbia

Georgia